Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Regarding claim 1, "preferably fluid tight" renders the claim indefinite as it is not clear if the material must be fluid tight or not. The remaining claims are included since they stem from rejected claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Amberg (US 2,240,599) in view of Bowers et al (US 4,813,362). Regarding claim 1, as it is best understood, Amberg teaches a liquid tight container with a bent opening edge made from a blank where the blank is made of transparent material but does not teach the at least two layers or the heat sealing. Bowers et al teaches a similar container made from a blank of three layers and heat sealed along the overlap. It would have been obvious to employ the multiple layers and heat sealing of Bowers et al in the container of Amberg to make a stronger container. Regarding claim 2-4, see the Figs. of Amberg where the structure is shown. Regarding claim 5, it would have been obvious to make all the three layers of the modified container of Amberg transparent to allow the user to see the contents. Regarding claim 6, the inner layer of the modified container of Amberg satisfies the limitation. The limitation does not require any structure that is not in the combination of references. Regarding claim 9, the sealed edges will be fluid tight. Regarding claim 20, the process steps do not require any structure that is not in the combination of references. Regarding claim 15, the layers are ultra sonic absorbent. Regarding claim 27, the angle is more than 90 degrees since the edge is rolled. Regarding claim 32, any of the layers will perform a heat insulating function. Regarding claim 33, see Amberg where the container is formed from a blank. Regarding claims 7, 10-14, 17, 18, 23, 24, 25, 26, official notice is taken that the claimed structures are all well known in the container arts. To employ any of these features would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the container with more utility.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gammeter and McGirr et al are both cited for teaching conical containers.
